PROGRAM OVERVIEW

We are pleased to announce this program as the 2017 Alumni's Choice Summer Institute!

The Three Block Model of Universal Design for Learning is an effective approach to classroom management, planning, instruction, and assessment that creates a compassionate learning community from K-12.

Today's classrooms reflect the diversity of a global world. This diversity means that students vary in what they already know, what they are ready to learn, the pace at which they are able to proceed through curriculum, and the level of adult support they require for success. Building inclusive learning communities requires that students see school as a place where they belong, are valued, and have something to contribute. The Three Block Model of Universal Design for Learning is an effective approach to classroom management, planning, instruction, and assessment that creates a compassionate learning community from K-12.

2017 Alumni's Choice
SUMMER INSTITUTE

This course is a pre-approved elective that may be applied towards the Diploma in Special Education.

INSTRUCTORS

Jennifer Katz taught in diverse classrooms from K-12 in Winnipeg and Vancouver for 16 years, including special education classrooms, inclusive classrooms, youth centres, and alternative high school programs. She works internationally as an advocate of inclusive education with multiple audiences, including university courses, academic conferences, parent advocacy groups, educational conferences, school and division based professional development workshops, and most importantly, direct work with children and youth in schools and alternative settings. She is currently an Assistant Professor in the Faculty of Education at UBC.

Trevor Boehm has been a high school teacher for the last 18 years, and has successfully employed the Three Block Model with his high school English, social studies, and biology students. He is a certified level 2 Three Block Model facilitator, and has led sessions on how to put the Three Block Model into practice for colleagues working in kindergarten to grade 12 classrooms.
