IT'S A NEW YEAR, sort of...

For most of us engaged in education, the arrival of a "new year" on January 1st can feel a bit odd as we also find ourselves situated at the half-way point of the academic year. Students return to the classrooms and learning continues from before the holidays. January does, however, bring the possibility of New Year Resolutions, reflection on the year behind us and planning for the year ahead. As you settle into the new term and the new year, we are excited to share the programs and courses in this issue.

Keep an eye out for the February issue to get a head start on planning your summer learning! We look forward to joining you to meet your professional learning goals for 2017.

In this issue:
